NOVAK DRUCE + QUIGG LLP is a national firm focusing exclusively on complex intellectual property matters. The firm has more than 50 attorneys, agents, and scientific/technical advisors and analysts with offices in Houston, Texas; Washington, D.C.; and San Francisco, California. The Houston office has recently expanded utilizing the entire fifty-third floor of the Wells Fargo Plaza.

Gregory V. Novak serves as national IP counsel to Fortune 100 and several publicly-traded companies, undertaking patent, trademark, and strategic intellectual asset management counseling, as well as licensing and litigation matters. He has shifted his concentration towards the firm's growing reexamination practice, representing both patent owners and third party requesters.

Tracy W. Druce has over 19 years of complex patent experience and plays a vital role guiding the firm's reexamination team and also leading its thriving patent prosecution practice in a wide range of industries. Such practice areas include mechanical, electrical, and chemical fields.

Together, Novak and Druce have built a nationally renowned reexamination practice having more claims rejected before the United States Patent and Trademark Office's Central Reexamination Unit than any other law firm in the world to this date. Their combined efforts have won the firm back-to-back WORLDleaders International IP Patent Excellence Awards - North America/Canada - 2007 and 2008. Novak Druce continues to be leaders in patent prosecution and reexamination and look forward to another record-setting year in 2009.
